INTRODUCTION

This report includes the records of ROP Candidate flocks and lists of breeders whose stocks are qualified for the U. S. Performance Tested Parent Stock classification.

The ROP Candidate Records were compiled from trapnest records obtained on the breeder's farm, for ROP female qualification. At the end of the trapnest period, all performance records for the candidates are summarized by the ROP supervisor and submitted to the Animal Husbandry Research Division for publication. Qualification of ROP females may be based on any one of four measurements of production. The basis for qualification of females used for each flock is indicated in the report by the letters A, B, C or D. The qualification requirements indicated by these letters are:

- A Individual birds, 219 eggs in 365 days.
- B Individual birds, 60% production for at least 8 months.
- C Families of 6 or more, 65% production for at least 8 months.
- D Families of 8 or more, 70% production for at least 13 weeks.

The qualification of stocks for the U. S. Performance Tested Parent Stock classification is based on the performance of the stock in acceptable random sample tests after proper application by the breeder to the Official State Agency. Classification as U. S. Performance Tested Parent Stock for eggs is based on the performance of the test entries in income over feed and chick costs and for meat it is based upon rate of growth and egg production. The performance records of the candidate stocks are not included herein since they have been reported in other publications. The 1962-63 records for egg production stocks were included in ARS 44-79-4, "1963 Report of Egg Production Tests."

The classification, U. S. Performance Tested Parent Stock, may be retained for one year after qualification, provided the stock is maintained under the supervision of the qualifying breeder and is mated in the same combination, and for one more year if it is continuously represented by an entry for such classification. The list of stocks qualified as U. S. Performance Tested Parent Stock for eggs includes those which qualified in the 1961-62 and the 1962-63 test periods.

The detailed provisions for qualification as U. S. Performance Tested Parent Stock and U. S. Record of Performance products are contained in USDA Miscellaneous Publication 739, "The National Poultry and Turkey Improvement Plans and Auxiliary Provisions."
